

Funding Appeal Process

A party who has submitted a proposal that fails to be funded by the Commission has five (5) calendar days after receiving notification that the proposal is not funded to request a review of the Commission decision. The request for review must be directed to the Executive Director and must state the basis for the request. The Commission will review the process used by the Commission's grant review committee. If there were irregularities in the review process, the Chair will establish a new grant review committee to evaluate the grant proposal. However, if the Commission determines that the grant review committee has complied with the process requirement, the Executive Director will inform the party by letter that a review has been conducted and the process was handled according to policy. There will be no further appeal of the Commission's decision.
